

TRIGGER ACTION.

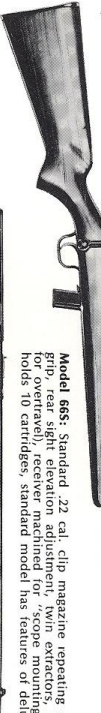

A lot goes into a Sportco firearm before it finally comes to you — ready for the real thing. Firstly, it's specially designed and manufactured for Australian conditions. You'll feel this in its lightness, comfort of grip, and the beautiful balance that every good firearm tries to achieve. And after months and years of service you'll find also that tough quality has been built into a Sportco — a ruggedness that enables you to trust the accuracy of each shot, no matter what conditions you shoot under. And you'll be pleasantly surprised at the price of your Sportco — you'll be getting the same value and quality that costs dollars more in other firearms.
